DISPOSAL PLANT NUISANCE AGAIN BEFORE COUNCIL

PROPERTY OWNERS THREATEN DAMAGE SUIT UNLESS CONDI-TIONS ARISING FROM OVER-FLOW FROM PLANT ARE ABAT-ED—WANT TO SEE WORK
STARTED TOWARD REMEDY-
ING THE EXISTING CONDI-TIONS.

THE CITY COUNCIL MEETS

The nuisance caused by the overflow from the Greencastle sewer system disposal plant, which overflow goes into a small branch which runs through lands owned by Alfred Hirt and Andrew Black, was the main topic of discussion at the regular meeting of the city council, held in council rooms, Tuesday night.

Mr. Hirt, accompanied by his attorney, John H. James, was present, and urged the council to take immediate action in seeing that the conditions were remedied. Each of these men stated that Mr. Hirt had made a written demand that the nuisance be abated more than seventy days ago but that as yet nothing had been done. They stated that the overflow from the tanks is polluting the branch and that the stench from the waters is unbearable.

The council assured Mr. Hirt and his attorney that steps already had been taken to remedy the conditions, the delay being caused by the council being unable to definitely decide just what should be done and by the inability of the city engineer to find time to plan any means of caring for the overflow.

The sewer committee was ordered to take immediate steps toward rectifying the conditions. The general impression is that the trouble may be abated by tiling the waters to a point near the creek, where a filter bed will be built. Both Mr. Hirt and Mr. James stated that unless some action was immediately taken by the council, legal action for damages would be filed. Not only Mr. Hirt, but other land owners who are annoyed by the nuisance are complaining and threatening suits against the city.

Mr. Hirt stated that he would allow the city to tile the overflow through his land without cost to the city in case the city decided to lay a tile to the creek.

The other most important matter taken up was the passage of an amendment to the city ordinance governing the city sewer, which amendment gives the mayor the power to revoke the license of any plumber who does not comply with the ordinance governing the connecting of drains to the sewer. This ordinance was passed because of the seeming negligence of some of the local plumbers in complying with the ordinance.

Charley Huffman, chairman of the fire department committee, reported that the city would be required to purchase new zinc plates for the fire alarm system. The cost of these plates has increased almost four times the former cost and the 40 plates will cost approximately $260.
The following permits were granted: Henry Newgent was given a permit to grade the alley between his property and the property belonging to W. H. Jenkins on Hanna street; the A. M. E. church, through Henry Miles, trustee, was given a permit to build a new roof on the church building on Hanna street; Hubert Webster was given permission to build a garage on the rear of his College avenue residence lot; W. W.
Tucker was granted a permit to build a house on his lot at the corner of Main and Howard streets.

Attention was called to the bad condition of the sidewalk, where the interurban line crosses the sidewalk on Indiana street, just west of the traction station and the city attorneys were instructed to take the matter up with the traction company and request that the conditions be remedied.

TRACTION CARS TO BE SPEEDED UP AND TIME CHANGED

Report has it that a special limited service is to be inaugurated by the traction company soon, probably beginning with the 1st of November.
The new service will consist of two east and two westbound limited cars, which will stop only at Brazil and Greencastle, between Terre Haute and Indianapolis, and much faster time will be made.

The new special limited cars will be the 11:27 a. m. and 5:27 p. m., eastbound, and the 10:38 a. m. and 4:38 p. m. westbound cars. Where the cars stop for railroad crossings the vestibules will be kept closed to prevent passengers from entering, and the conductor will be required to run the crossing from the baggage room door. No extra fare is to be charged on these cars, it is understood.

Additional Prizes.

The Leutke Bakery has offered a prize of $3.00 to the family that travels the farthest to come to Greencastle to attend the fall festival on Saturday. The family that comes from a distance must register with Jesse Hughes, chairman of the Fall Festival committee at Hanna's Furniture store no later than 6 o'clock Saturday evening.

Serious Accident at Gymnasium.

Another accident occurred late Tuesday afternoon at the new gymnasium which is being built for De-Pauw university on east Hanna street.
Two men working on a scaffolding on the third story of the building were seriously injured when the support gave away letting them fall to a cement flooring twenty-two feet below.
The men were Roscoe Skimmerhorn of this city, and Will Stevens of Logansport, the latter is colored. It was thought at first that the men were fatally injured and Dr. Tucker and Dr. Sudranski were called.

They were cut and bruised severely about the limbs and body by the falling stone and brick which was piled on the scaffold when it fell. Other workmen who were on the scaffold when the support gave way, barely escaped falling and saved themselves by clinging to the boards supporting the scaffolding near the one that fell.
The men were reported better today and their injuries will not prove permanent or fatal.

Skimmerhorn is the same man who fell down the elevator about a week ago with a wheel barrow and was badly bruised. He is a married man and resides on west Columbia street.

Purdue Exhibit.

Due to the efforts of the Boosters Club and the cooperation of Superintendent G. I. Christie of the Agricultural Extension Department of Purdue University, the Fall Festival is to have as a special feature a large agricultural exhibit.

J. A. McCarty and R. B. Eassom, who are in charge of the exhibit, are familiar with the work of the School of Agriculture and Experiment Station and are glad to talk farm problems with you.

This large exhibit has something of interest to every one interested in agricultural work. It contains valuable information as horticulture, live stock, soils and crops, farm weeds and diseases, dairy husbandry and poultry.

The exhibit is located in a large display room on the north side of the square and will be there until Saturday night. Every one interested in agricultural work should visit the exhibit and study it. Ask questions and receive free literature.

Mr. and Mrs. Badger Williamson went to Indianapolis this morning to spend the day.

MRS. ELMER LONG ENTERTAINS AT DINNER

Mrs. Elmer Long delightfully entertained a number of Mr. Long's friends at a Hallowe'en dinner at the home on Morton avenue Tuesday night. The affair was in honor of Mr. Long's birthday anniversary. At 6:30 o'clock a three-course dinner was served. The decorations were yellow chrysanthemums. Other decorations through the dining room

TELLING THE TRUTH.

It may seem superfluous for the editor to direct attention of readers to the Indianapolis letters written by Willis S. Thompson, and which appear each day in this newspaper. Since the standpat Republican editors, and some of their office-chasing orators have complained about some of the things said in these letters it may not be out of place to mention the chief subjects of complaint. Some of the editors have already stated that Willis S. Thompson was selected to represent the Democratic press of the state at the time Lew Ellingham relinquished the work and resumed charge of his own newspaper, the Decatur Democrat. Mr. Thompson published and edited the Indianapolis Sun from 1907 to 1910, that being the only time in recent years there has been a Democratic paper at Indianapolis. He demonstrated his ability as a clean and effective fighter during the Marshall campaign. Two subjects that he has discussed in his recent letters to the state press have caused a temporary tempest among the brethren of the opposition. He contrasted the condition of the state finances under Democratic debt-paying government with those of the three Republican debt-making administrations preceding. There was such a howl from the Republicans, declaring the Thompson statement wrong, that Auditor Dale J. Crittenger has made a careful report from the records which he invites everybody to inspect. The facts and figures are exactly as stated in the Thompson letters. Another subject was the Marion county indictments. The Thompson letters from the day these indictments were returned told exactly what influences were back of them and what would be the result. He did not fear or hesitate to criticize judges as well as others when he thought their motives or acts proper subjects of comment. Following the lead of the Indianapolis News, a portion of the Republican press of the state denounced these criticisms and comments as an attempt to belittle the indictments. Now all that was said in the Willis S. Thompson letters has developed just as predicted. But for the work of Willis S. Thompson very little would have been known of the school of perjury and other outrageous features of this prosecution. The letters are now printed in independent and Democratic newspapers that reach 400,000 Indiana homes. They tell the truth. —Tipton Times.

The Story of a Mule.

This is a story of a meek and lowly mule with velvety, dreamy eyes. Also a chapter from the somewhat varied life of Slim, a young man with assertive moods and a cold and calculating eye. The mule's name is Tom. He can smoke a cigarette and drink a bottle of beer—but we digress. Tom is carried by Arch Johnson, manager for Ratchford's Society Horses, with H. W. Wright's shows. So is Slim. The difference, or one of the differences is that Tom works every day, while Slim does not. The reason follows:

One night Slim approached Tom. Now it is the custom for Slim to approach Thomas during the performance, with the idea in mind to ride the mule. Such has been the situation all season. But on that particular occasion Tom looked with disfavor upon Slim. The dreamy expression had flitted from Tom's eyes, and into the eyes of Slim there crept a colder and more calculating gleam. Both glaring their disapproval, Slim essayed to mount Tom. His meekness and lowliness, the mule, carefully placed his hind feet on the north side of Slim's overalls in such a manner that Slim went to sleep among hops, alphabet boards, saws, and other "props" used during the action of the show.

Slim has, of course, returned to the land of the wakeful, as much as it is possible for him to return to the land of the wakeful, never having explored exceptionally far into wakefulness in his life. Tom remains to be ridden. The management has given up in despair of getting as talented a mule rider as Slim, and resorts to the method of offering rewards to any who will ride the party from Missouri. Slim has lost interest in his work, and is satisfied to lie about all week waiting for Saturday night to come so he can help "tear down" the tent and ride to the next town to help set it up, and then lie around all week waiting for Saturday night again.
